Breastmilk gives babies the best start for optimal growth and development, protecting against illness, supporting brain development, and aiding digestion.

According to the National Institutes of Health (NIH), more than 300,000 infants require neonatal intensive care in the U.S. each year.

Many of these babies are already at-risk for infections, delays, and digestion issues.

Your donor milk helps to improve these outcomes by reducing the risk of infections, supporting healthy development, and aiding digestion.

Our vision is that every baby has access to safe human milk to contribute to the best start in life.
